Brother Pacini is a passionate teacher and I enjoyed going to class, even looked forward to it at time. He is a great addition to BYUI.
BroPa was an amazing teacher! I loved how passionate he was about everything he taught us, and I definitely feel like I learned so much from this class.
I LOVE this class! I would recommend it to anyone, but to have them make sure they take it with BroPa. I actually took it with him because my roommates had taken it previously with him and absolutely loved this class. I appreciate that we are taught by being given an example but then having to do the project and actually learn the material and different tools on our own. I also loved that he was so relatable with his memes, and that he was always concerned about his students and making sure they succeed. His class pushed me to really think about things from different angles and consider what other opinions might be and why. I absolutely loved the readings and discussions we had, because I learned so so much from them. By far he is the best professor I have had at BYU-I i?ll miss bropa!

Something I noticed about this class is how some people don't push themselves. I have thoroughly enjoyed this class because I chose to. You give us room to decide the difficulty. I gave you a 4/5 on difficulty because I chose to push myself. You structured this class in a way which I think is really quite beautiful, but students are given the opportunity to really want to learn and even make it a 4.5 if they so desire. At the same time, there is a kind of chill-ness that allows a lot of students to not care and if I hadn't pushed myself, I would be doing 3.5/5 difficulty work. You give the materials and show us what we can be, and we bring the passion which determines how hard we make it for ourselves.
I loved this class! This class helped me feel excited to learn and not just learning for the grade!
This has been a great course with an amazing teacher. It was my favorite course I had this semester. I feel like I learned a great deal more in this class than the ED 361 class sometimes.

I LOVE how he has his class set up regarding assignments and the content. I felt like everything we did and discussed was relevant and taught me so much! I feel like I am better prepared to be a teacher and disciple of Jesus of Christ because of this course.
Not only is BroPa a great teacher but the way he teaches is amazing. I love all the opportunities he gives for us to become better. He has tough me that growth mindset is very important.
