Doing a blended class discussion was very hard for this instructor. There are many technical things needed to fix. The location of the cameras in the face-to-face classroom setting was very confusing. What happens is I cannot see clearly what Bro. Pacini was doing or saying in the class, I don't know who he is talking to. When he stood up in front of the class, he was pointing somewhere from the share screen or the projector, which I cannot understand what he was explaining. I think I would suggest if he can use a pen to annotate the share screen slide where he can point and write what part he is discussing. He can use a Wacom writing tablet, if possible. For cameras, I would suggest focusing the camera on him (not on the top side part) so that we can see his gestures while he teaches. You can set up the faces of zoom students not beside him nor the whiteboard, but on the part where the actual face to face students is sitting so that he can see who's raising a hand from the zoom students. The sound where he speaks was muffled and echoed. During the class, there are noises or whisperings I heard, and I think these are the conversations of the other students. I think the conversations were captured from the mic that was used. I was not able to hear the students' questions in the face-to-face class during that time after the class ends. The speed of speaking of Bro. Pacini adds to the concern. I felt intimidated because I am not a native English speaker and I strive to do my very best to understand every word he said. The syllabus instruction was not yet clear to me, what will happen for the rest of the semester due to technical concerns. I think it would be better to make it as an assignment and prepare questions to be discussed in the class.
I think that Bro Pa does such a great job of allowing all students to talk. He also does a great job of answering questions. He takes time out of his busy schedule to talk with students not only about the class that they are in but, also about how they are doing. He really cares about his students. If he has any more classes that I can take with him I will make sure that I can make time in my schedule to take his class. I feel like he teaches us what it is really going to be like to teach and prepares us to be the best teacher that we can be. He also does a great job of bringing the gospel into the class.

Brother Pacini was awesome! He always kept class interesting and was super willing to work with students. He was able to run this class effectively. He was able to make it fun but I also feel like he made what we were learning fun and interesting. He also made it so that we actually had a purpose of what we were learning.
Although I am not an education major, this class and this instructor showed so much passion for his students, and this class. I am better because of it

He is a good teacher, I've had him before. This class just wasn't as good as his Ed 211. I really expected better.
AMAZING teacher!! Pushes us to get things done to the best of our ability.
He is probably one of the best teachers I have had this far in my college education.
I really enjoyed this class and felt I learned a lot. I do think you should incorporate SYTYCT again because I feel it was super valuable just took up a lot of useful time in class.
BroPa is an amazing professor who built this class to be challenging and rewarding and I have grown as a person, student, and disciple through his class!
Brother Pa was amazing, super energetci, friendly, and sooo knowledgable
I really appreciated how he pushed us gently. Bropa did not only teach me how to be a teacher, he showed me the kind of teacher I want to be.
I really admire our teacher and am so grateful I got to take this class! I have learned so much! His class has helped me become a better person and to want to do my best!
This class felt very chaotic and frustrating but it got better as the teacher made some adjustments. The teacher's energy level is so high I was drained after every class period, and if I had known that I would have taken it from someone else and I might have enjoyed the class more. He's not a bad teacher, just not my cup of tea. The content of what we learned was good and helpful for my development towards my career. Like I mentioned earlier, the assignments felt like all over the place at the beginning but it got better after the teacher made adjustments.
I don't have anything else to share!
He is an amazing teacher!

This class is hard work, but it is worth it. Also the amount I learned in this class was incredible and it wasn't just about what we were learning, it was the gospel, my personality, and just everything overall.
This class was difficult but do-able. I learned a lot. I know this was his first time teaching but he did a good job of trying things out and trying to structure the class well.
