Annual Status Letter

CFS Candidate: Ben Pacini

(Department chair: please provide your assessment of the candidate by completing the following questions, then send to the dean for their additional comments.)

Please rate the candidate on their efforts to build disciples of Jesus Christ, with a low score of 1 and a high score of 7:

1 2 3 4 5 6 7

Indicate why you gave this rating - highlight observed strengths and any areas of need for improvement.

I have observed Ben during classes and in all other settings and have found him to be a tremendous example of discipleship in his interactions with students and colleagues. His door is always open to students and seeks opportunities to build and lift students. His course lessons are gospel focused, he works to build a positive classroom culture where students follow the learning model, especially by having opportunities to teach one another.

Please rate the candidate on their efforts to be progressive and effective teachers, with a low score of 1 and a high score of 7:

1 2 3 4 5 6 7

Indicate why you gave this rating - highlight observed strengths and any areas of needed improvement.

Ben is one of the more innovative and progressive teachers that I know. He has used campus resources and connections to learn and implement new strategies and techologies into his teaching and actively seeks feedback from students and colleagues on how to improve teaching and learning in his courses.

Please rate the candidate on their efforts to engage in student success-focused activities, with a low score of 1 and a high score of 7:

1 2 3 4 5 6 7

Indicate why you gave this rating - highlight observed strengths and any areas of need for improvement.

Ben is an exceptionally student success focused faculty member. One example is his work with the tri-ed student society, of which he has been the faculty advisor for the past few years. This society is a positive force for student enrichment and leadership opportunities.

Please rate the candidate on their currency in discipline, with a low score of 1 and a high score of 7:

1 2 3 4 5 6 7

Indicate why you gave this rating - highlight observed strengths and any areas of need for improvement.

Ben actively seeks to be current in the discipline of education. He researches, publishes articles, and takes opportunities to teach new courses which furthers his understanding of the field.

Please rate the candidate on their collegiality and service within the department, college and University, with a low score of 1 and a high score of 7:

1 2 3 4 5 6 7

Indicate why you gave this rating - highlight observed strengths and any areas of need for improvement.

Ben is always willing to serve in whatever capacity he has been asked or assigned to work in. He often volunteers to take on responsibilities and does so with excitement. Ben is well respected and liked in the department. He has a kind, courteous, collaborative, and encouraging demeanor as he interacts with colleagues, staff, and students.

I am very supportive of the Department Chair's green recommendation for Ben Pacini. I have had the pleasure of interacting with Ben in a variety of settings over the years. Ben embodies the mission of BYU-Idaho and is a wonderful example of what it means to be a disciple leader. He develops excellent student rapport and shows great interest in their needs. His students feel his genuine care and concern for them. He is a gifted and engaging teacher. He effectively integrates the principles of the learning model into his classroom. He is a strength to the department and university. We feel very blessed to have Ben on our faculty.
